

MY VISIT WITH A POLICE OFFICER

---

This book belongs to

When I grow up, I really want to be a police officer.

But I can't wait! So when Officer Martin visited our school, I asked him how a little kid like me could be a police officer.

"You do have to be a grown-up to be an officer," he said with a smile.

"Even though you are not old enough to be an officer, there are lots of things you can do to make you and your friends and your home and your neighborhood safe."

"Like what?" I asked him.

Know your...

- home address
- telephone number including area code

- family's first and last names

- emergency phone numbers

Officer Martin told me to learn the Bad Guy rules about strangers.

Bad guys and strangers don't look like monsters.
They can be anyone.

It's important to say
NO to drugs and alcohol.

If you find a weapon or something dangerous, DON'T touch it.

Get away and tell a grown-up you trust.

Here are some other things to keep you safe. If someone is bullying you:

• Stick with your friends

• Walk away from the bully

• Ask an adult for help

"That's a lot to remember,"
I told Officer Martin.

"But if I start now, I'll be ready to be a police officer when I'm grown up."
Officer Martin smiled. "You will," he said, "you will."
